

Market Data

Global market information, when and where you need it

Introduction

Market participants rely on timely, accurate and meaningful information to make informed investment and trading decisions.

Whether assessing portfolio performance, analysing securities or responding to economic events, access to trusted data at the right time is essential.

Iress Market Data delivers global market information wherever and whenever it is needed. Through powerful tools, clear visualisation and broad market coverage, it supports confident decision-making across trading and investment workflows.

What is it and what does it do?

Iress Market Data connects to global exchanges and data vendors to process live and static market information and deliver it through Iress trading and market data software. It supports a wide range of users, including:

Wealth managers who require up-to-date portfolio valuations.

Traders assessing live positions and liquidity.

Research analysts analysing companies and securities.

Iress Market Data provides:

Real-time market data through terminals.

Low-latency datafeeds and APIs.

Access to market news, security information and company research.

This enables informed trading and investment decisions based on current market activity and trusted information.

Features and benefits

Exchange data and connectivity

Delivers broad global market coverage to support real-time and historical analysis.

- Coverage of close to 200 markets across 85 countries
- Includes more than 160 equity markets and over 20 derivative and bond markets
- Coverage of more than 15 index and foreign exchange providers
- Access to Level 1 quote data, Level 2 full order book, delayed quotes and end-of-day pricing data

Funds coverage

Provides comprehensive visibility across managed fund markets.

- Coverage of funds available for sale across Australia, New Zealand, the United Kingdom, Canada and South Africa
- Includes asset allocations, pricing, distributions, performance, fees and security information

News

Keeps users informed of fast-moving market events.

- Access to multiple market news providers
- Delivery of breaking economic and security-related news

Company information

Supports research, valuation and investment analysis.

- Company ownership and major shareholder data
- Broker consensus and company forecasts
- Financial statements and industry classification using GICS

Corporate actions

Ensures accurate portfolio tracking and market awareness.

- Coverage of dividends, restructures, new listings and on-market ticker changes

Access trusted global market data

Visit iress.com/market-data

Or speak to your Iress Account Manager to discover how Iress Market Data can support informed trading and investment decisions with reliable global market information.