ASX Release 15 May 2024

Update on Iress unauthorised access incident

As announced on Monday 13 May, Iress has been investigating unauthorised access to its user space on GitHub, a third-party code repository platform which manages software code.

In the course of the investigation, it has now been discovered that a credential within Iress' GitHub user space was stolen and used to gain access to Iress' OneVue production environment.

This production environment is isolated to the OneVue businesses - MFA, Platform and OneVue Super.

The OneVue production environment contains client data and we are investigating the extent and nature of the data accessed.

Investigations have substantially progressed across Iress' other business lines and at this time we have found no evidence that the remainder of Iress' production environment, software or client data has otherwise been compromised.

Iress will continue to keep the market informed as the investigation continues.
